This guide focuses primarily on collecting information addressed to the (Sector), with the intention that it will be useful for the identification of aid to the sector.

PART I: DOCUMENT' STRUCTURE

This document gathers the initiatives of support and incentives developed for the industry sector in Spain.

The Part II of the document includes a list of grants related to the industrial sector, in which each identified call is classified according to diverse concepts, and subsequently, in the corresponding section each one is developed in greater detail. This detailed information of each call can be consulted through the Individual File link.

The list of calls is classified as follows:

- Aids for the industry in general: This block includes aid for the industrial sector in general, regardless of the type of industry involved.
- Aids classified according to the type of industry to which they are focused on. This block includes the following industries:
 - Heavy or Base Industries: They produce semi-finished goods to supply other industries.
 - Raw materials and Energy.
 - Extractive (linked to mining).
 - Metal-Siderúrgicas (they produce iron, steel and all types of metals-copper, aluminum, etc.).
 - Petrochemicals (they use petroleum derivatives).
 - Heavy or basic chemistry (elaborates chemical products indispensable for other industries).
 - Equipment industries: They produce equipment needed for other activities. They do not use as much energy or raw materials as heavy industries or base industries. This block includes the following industries:
 - Machinery or machine tools.
 - Construction.
 - Shipyards (shipbuilding).
 - Production of industrial vehicles.
 - Aeronautics and aerospace industry.
 - Arms industry.
 - Light industries or use and consumption industries: They produce consumer goods directly aimed to the consumers. This block includes the following industries:
 - Food industry (including the production of beverages).
 - Tobacco industry.

- Appliances and other electrical appliances.
 - Computers and telecommunications information technology.
 - Pharmaceutical industry and light chemistry.
 - Biotechnology.
 - Textile, leather and footwear.
 - Furniture.
 - Graphic arts.
- Aids and calls classified according to the geographical location of the industries to which these calls are focused on, considering aids at the following levels:
 - State.
 - Autonomous Communities.

In Part III of the document, gathers those calls for the Industrial sector whose application period is open at the time of writing this monograph.

To do this, an individual file has been created for each of the aids identified, which can be consulted one by one. The content of each sheet is structured as follows:

Name of the call

The name of the call in question is included.

Purpose of the aid

It details in a timely manner the purpose for which the aid was intended and what problems or challenges are intended to be solved or addressed.

Type of help

Specifies the financial mode that governs the help. For example, in the case of non-refundable grants, loans, or even if it is possible to combine both alternatives or some other modality.

Beneficiaries

It refers to the type of entities that may submit applications: consortia and associations of companies, individual entrepreneur, mercantile society, others (universities, technological or research centers, public administrations, non-governmental organizations, etc.).

Description of the help

It includes a more detailed description of the aid and the concepts and actions it finances. It also contains summary information on the requirements and characteristics that must be met by the projects that are financed within it.

Term of validity of the call

It temporarily delimits the deadline for submitting applications, indicating the start and end date of the call, as well as identifying whether the call is a single stage or if it consists of several cuts (multiple cut-off).

Link for more information

It refers to the link of the rules of the call, so that those interested in obtaining more information can consult it. (Bases, Call, etc.).
